"Conducting a Clinical Trial" Workshop

The Office of Clinical Trials (OCT) sponsored the first annual Investigator Training Program – a Seminar and Workshop on Clinical Trials – a two-day course. The program was offered in partnership with Pfizer Pharmaceuticals. The training registration, developed for both novice and advanced researchers, was full in less than two days, with a total of 71 participants. Their backgrounds were diverse, ranging from PI’s to IRB personnel, compliance officers, study nurses and coordinators. The attendees participated in didactic sessions, discussions, and small working groups. Such interactions led to community building, sharing of expertise and experience, and networking. As one attendee stated, it was "...very worthwhile, always something to learn. Will it be a regular event? I’d like to send all my staff." Look for announcements about the next event.
