Upcoming Events

Drug Development and Public-Private Partnerships Course

The Einstein-Montefiore ICTR, Columbia, Cornell, Mt. Sinai, and Rockefeller CTSAs are co-sponsoring a two-day course, Translating Science into Innovation in Healthcare: How industry and academia together can create opportunity in a time of crisis.

The two-day course will focus on how public-private partnerships can address fundamental challenges facing the future of innovation in healthcare and how new technologies can lead to improved care, better outcomes, and lower costs. Topics include: transforming ideas into marketable innovations, creating new paradigms and business models in healthcare, lowering costs and maximizing returns on investments, and exploring the impact of new technologies. Featured speakers include leaders from academia, including CTSAs, and industry.

The course will be conducted at the Weill Cornell Campus on October 27—28, 2012. For more information, including agenda and registration, visit: http://ctsc.med.cornell.edu/InnovationCourse

Einstein has launched a new centralized webpage for all Center or Department Pilot Funding Opportunities. To see currently available pilot funds, including the newly announced ICTR Pilot Funding Opportunity for Experimental Therapeutics focused on drug design and synthesis, visit: http://www.einstein.yu.edu/research/pilot-grants/

Kevin Grumbach, MD, Professor and Chair of the Department of Family and Community Medicine at UCSF, will be speaking on September 11th at the 2012 NYC RING Convocation of Practices. To register for Dr. Grumbach’s talk, “Transforming Primary Care for Underserved Populations”, visit: http://www.einstein.yu.edu/departments/family-social-medicine/NYCRing/Convocation.aspx

On Friday, September 14th, 2012, the Gottesman Institute for Stem Cell and Regenerative Medicine Research will host a Stem Cell Symposium featuring outstanding leaders in the stem cell field. The event will take place in LeFrak Auditorium at the Price Center/Block Research Pavilion, from 1:30 to 5 p.m. For further details, please contact: joan.pitcan@einstein.yu.edu