Seminar Announcement

Self-regulation in the transition to school

Dr. Frederick J. Morrison
Professor of Psychology,
Professor in the Combined Program in Education and Psychology and Research Professor, Center for Human Growth and Development at the University of Michigan

Hosted by the Children’s Evaluation and Rehabilitation Center (CERC)

Lefrak Auditorium, Price Center, (Room 151)
12pm, Friday July 23rd, 2010

Biographical note:
Dr. Morrison is currently Professor of Psychology, Professor in the Combined Program in Education and Psychology and Research Professor, Center for Human Growth and Development at the University of Michigan. In recent years, his research has focused on understanding the nature and sources of children’s cognitive, literacy and social development over the school transition period. The work ranges from conducting basic research studies utilizing natural experiments and large-scale longitudinal descriptive studies of children’s developmental trajectories to developing, implementing and evaluating two major interventions aimed at improving children’s learning during the preschool and early school years.

Contact: Dr. John Foxe (john.foxe@einstein.yu.edu) for information.